How to order flowers for Mother's Day – Floral Expressions

APRIL 6, 2016 @ 11:01 AM

[...] Don't order flowers online from the first paid advertisement that pops up when you Google "Florist". Most of those paid advertisements are for order gathering companies. These companies are internet businesses that gather orders and then send them to real local florists to make up and deliver. They work from an office, are staffed by a call centre and may even be located overseas. The problem is that they will take a huge commission from your order before sending it to a real florist. Most will take between 21% and 30% from your order, some will take up to 50%!! So a $100 bouquet that you paid for may turn into a $50 bunch by the time your mum gets it. Wouldn't you prefer to get better value for your money? Moreover, the florists who make up these flowers for order gatherers do not care about the quality of flowers and the way they get delivered. Internet is full of these sites, to learn who they are read here. [...]
